

2013-04-01-018 VetScite News Update (March 5, 2013)

To: (12) Scientific Information, research and education;

The latest News Update at Veterinary Sciences Tomorrow is online and may be reached from the Home Page (<http://www.vetscite.org>) using the News link in the navigation bar at the top of the page.

As usual these news items have been selected from a range of biomedical and animal health sources with the express purpose that they should be of interest to researchers working in the veterinary and animal science environments.

A selection of the headlines is listed below and links are provided to the relevant web pages:

Amphibian study shows how biodiversity can protect against disease

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007816/index.html>

Anti-anxiety drug found in rivers makes fish more aggressive

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007817/index.html>

Color vision: Explaining primates' red-green vision

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007821/index.html>

Important step in the activation of T-cells in the immune system explained

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007827/index.html>

Meerkats use subordinate animals as guinea pigs when approaching novel threats

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007828/index.html>

Amblyopia cat: Turn off the lights

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007835/index.html>

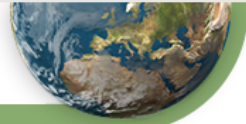

Degenerative cervical spine disease may not progress over time

<http://www.vetscite.org/publish/items/007839/index.html>

More News Items

<http://www.vetscite.org/news.html>

With kind regards,

Prof. Marian C. Horzinek (Editor-in-Chief)
